TWO ARE HURT IN CARTHAGE WORKS

Frank Brooks is Seriously Injured, Perhaps Fatally, in Pit Cave-in at Straw Board.

IS DUG OUT BY WORKMEN

Ross Parrish Catches Hand in Monster Squeeze Roll, Hurt Necessitating Amputation.

Carthage was in a State of agitation today, when the second accident at the Carthage straw board within the short space of fifteen hours had taken place, in which one man was injured, possibly fatally and another suffered such hurts that it was necessary to amputate one of his hands and the amputation of his whole arm may follow if he does not improve as he should.

Ross Parrish caught his hand in the squeeze roll shortly before the noon hour today and his hand was so badly mashed that it was necessary to amputate it. Frank Brooks in attempting to escape a pit cave-in last night about nine o'clock, ran into a beam and bumped his head with such force that he was unconscious for several hours and grave apprehensions are expressed for his recovery.

Ross Parrish works near the mammoth squeeze rolls where he weighs out the paper. Accidentally his left hand was caught in the roll and was gradually drawn in by the slow grinding of the monster iron roll. If the machinery had not been stopped his whole body would have been drawn in between the rolls and life crushed out or his arm would have been torn out from his shoulder. The machine was stopped in time so that only his hand was mashed, but it was in such a condition that Dr. Sipe amputated it. His arm is badly injured and it may be necessary to remove a whole or part of the arm if complications set in. One bone in his wrist was broken as was his little finger on the injured hand.

The first accident came last night shortly after nine o'clock, when the large pit at the back end of the straw board works caved in. Frank Brooks was the only man working in the pit at the time. He noticed that the pit was starting to cave in on him and would possibly cover him with earth and he ran to escape it. In his haste to save his life he ran into a heavy beam, which rendered him unconscious. The force of the blow was so terrific that a large ugly flesh wound was cut in his forehead. It was necessary to take several stitches in the wound.

After the injury to his head, Brooks was unable to escape the cave-in. The dirt filled in around him and fortunately not enough fell into the hole to fill it up. If that had been the case life would have been crushed out of him by the weight of the earth and he would have been smothered to death before workmen could have dug down to his body. As it was the dirt only covered him

DR. J. G. LEWIS BREAKS ARM

Falls Down Stairs at Masonic Temple and Suffers Fracture

Dr. J. G. Lewis fell down the stairs at the Masonic Temple yesterday afternoon about four o'clock, breaking his left arm. Dr. Lewis was coming down and had reached the first landing when he tripped and fell. He was removed to his office across the street where the fracture was reduced.

up to the waist and anxious workmen soon dug him out.

Brooks was rendered unconscious by the accident and was removed to his home where Dr. Horton of Carthage was called. Brooks is said to be in a very serious condition today and fears are expressed that he may not recover.

The two accidents make three that have occurred at the straw board recently. Charley Parrish a brother of Ross Parrish, who was injured at noon today, fell at the straw board several days ago and broke one of his arms in three places.

Brooks, who was injured in the cave-in came to Carthage only a few days ago and just went to work at the straw board last Friday, having not worked a week yet.

HELD SEMI-ANNUAL EVENT YESTERDAY

C. H. & D. Officials Measure Ground
For "New Station" Which is Harbinger of Spring.

PLANNED FOR LAST FEW YEARS

A little semi-annual event was pulled off in Rushville yesterday. Officials of the C. H. & D. railroad measured the ground for that "new station," which so far has not progressed farther than an "air castle." It has long been a rumor that the company planned to erect a modern building at the corner of Main and Fourth streets where the Capp property is now located. Invariably in the spring and the fall, officials of the company come here and take measurements for the new station. The old "shack" which is now used as a station by the C. H. & D. is only the "remains" of what used to be a rather respectable building. It was shattered and torn asunder when two engines collided at the intersection of the C. H. & D. and J. M. & I. railroads.

POSTOFFICE WILL CLOSE ON SUNDAY

Authorities Get Word From Washington That Petition From Rushville Had Been Granted.

INNOVATION BEGINS IN APRIL

On the first Sunday in April it will be useless to get up early in the morning to get the mail, for on that date will begin a period when the postoffice will be closed on Sunday. That is the windows will be closed and only those who have boxes can get their mail. The front door will be open as usual. The city letter droarrriers will make one collection on Sunday between the hours of four and five. The general delivery window will be open from 9:30 to 10:00 to accommodate transient people. The mail will be dispatched as usual.

Acting in accord with the agitation that is general all over Indiana, the local letter and rural mail carriers circulated a petition in the city and sent cards over the rural routes to get the sentiment of the patrons of the postoffice on the Sunday closing movement. The result was that a good majority of the rural mail patrons were in favor of their carriers having a Sunday vacation, while 1438 people in the city signed the petition which was sent to Washington, D. C., praying that the local postoffice be closed on Sunday. There was one dissenting voice on the petition circulated in the city.

POLICE ARREST INSURANCE MAN

G. A. Spinks Got "Tight" While His Four Year Old Son Attended
Picture Show.

PRESENTED A SAD SIGHT

Told Mayor Black he Had Only Taken Two Drinks and Pleaded Not Guilty.

The sight of a drunk man leading his four year old son around with him, attracted the attention of many people last night in the business district of the city, and he was severely criticized by all who saw him. The little tragedy came to an end about ten-thirty o'clock when the man, G. A. Spinks, was arrested by Night Policeman Thomas Scanlan in front of the Vaudet theater.

The boy was taken home after he was separated from his father. He was a very brave little fellow and had waited so long for his father that he had grown very cold. He realized what was taking place and cried as though his heart would break when his father was arrested. The boy accompanied his father last night and was sent to a moving picture show. Spinks met some friends in the meantime and was in no condition to be with a child.

When arraigned this morning before Mayor Black, Spinks pleaded not guilty and asked for a trial.

Several witnesses testified that he was drunk, but Spinks repeatedly said that all he had taken was just two drinks. He stubbornly refused to admit that he was intoxicated, although it was proven that he could hardly walk. It was a clear case and Mayor Black fined him one dollar and costs, which was stayed.

Spinks has been here about one month, coming from Terre Haute. He is employed here in the interests of the National Life Insurance Company.

He was found in front of the Vaudet theater with two bottles of beer and half pint of whiskey in his possession. He set these down on the sidewalk while he fumbled in his pocket for a note book and then being hustled away failed to recover his "wet" goods. It required two men to take him down the street, but still he persisted in saying he was not drunk.

BROKE ARM AT PLAY

Russell Kinnett of Milroy Met With Painful Accident.

Russell Kinnett, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kinnett of Milroy, broke his left arm just above the wrist this morning while playing with some children in the front yard at his home. The boy fell from a small express wagon and in attempting to catch himself, the weight of his body fractured the bone. A doctor was summoned and set the bone.

DORKING IS VERY RARE CHICKEN

Strain Which Will be Raised by Local Men Dates Back to Roman Times.

A. P. WALKER BUYS GEESE

China Breed Resembles Swan Very Much and is Very Prolific in Egg Production.

A. P. Walker, jersey cattle fancier and raiser of fine chickens, has engaged in another industry. He has purchased a bunch of fine imported geese, the strain being known as the China goose. He expects to raise the geese at his country home west of the city. In regard to the new strain which he has, Mr. Walker says:

"This variety is sometimes called the Knobbed goose and the Hong Konk goose, owing to the protubance or knob at the base of the bill. In appearance they resemble the swan. In range it is known throughout China, Asia, and portions of Africa. To any person wishing an ornamental as well as a profitable goose, I say decidedly, raise the China goose. What they lack in size they make up in egg production. They are very prolific, laying forty eggs in a season. They have a very graceful carriage and long slender necks. While the white variety have orange colored knobs, the brown variety have black bills and knobs. Hardiness, activity and vigor are traits of this breed.

"The common goose is one of the most anciently domesticated of fowls as shown by the fact that it was mentioned as being kept in the capitol of Rome, 388 B. C. They live to a good age and as breeders continue to be profitable, one in Scotland said to have reached the clearly ascertained age of eighty-one years."

It will be remembered that an account of a valuable strain of chickens, known as the Silver Gray Dorkings, being purchased by Mr. Walker while abroad this winter, being published in the Daily Republican recently. For the benefit of laymen, who are unacquainted with chickens in general and especially with any special kinds of chickens, Mr. Walker has said:

"The Dorking is one of the oldest of domestic fowls. There is no definite record showing when it first lived in England or whence it comes, but the supposition is that the Dorking was carried to Engand by the Romans, who evidently possessed chickens of similar characteristics. Columela, a Roman agriculture writer, wrote of their brawny five toed fowl and for centuries they have been the favorite fowl of the English counties of Surrey, Sussex and Kent, and from the town of Dorking in Surrey (Continued on Page Four.)

RUSHVILLE HAS BROADWAY

But it is Really Only Short and Narrow Way.

It has been suggested that the new decorative lights should be placed in the alley back of the two saloons rather than out in front, as there the traffic is heaviest. Grand M. Carr, the manager of the Star Grand theater has thought of placing his sign in the alley as he declares that more people will see it there than where it is now located. The congestion of the traffic in the short alley has caused many business men in that district to "dub" it "Broadway."

CAPITALIZED FOR $30,000

Arbuckle & Company Files Articles of Incorporation in Indianapolis.

The Indianapolis papers today carried a notice of the incorporation of Arbuckle & Company of Rushville with a capital stock of $50,000, to operate a foundry. The incorporators who are named as the directors are Nathan and J. W. Arbuckle and Wallace Morgan, the three stockholders who filed the articles with the secretary of State in Indianapolis yesterday. The company has many orders in advance now and gives promise of being a thriving industry.

MOTHER CONTRACTS DISEASE FROM SON

Charles Applegate Receives Word
That Aunt is Dead Following Boy's Demise.

RETURNED FROM FUNERAL

Charles Applegate just returned from Loveland, Ohio, a few days ago where he attended the funeral of his nephew, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Anshutz. This morning he received word that Mrs. Anshutz had died of the same disease, which took her son away. While her son lay a corpse, the mother took sick with pneumonia, which caused his death and which she contracted while caring for her boy. Her illness lasted only a few days, as the boy's funeral was held just last Sunday. Mrs. Anshutz watched by her son's bedside continually and weakened her system so that the disease made deep inroads on her. Elijah Applegate of this city, father of Charles Applegate, has been at Loveland, Ohio, for two weeks and was at his sister's bedside when she expired.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hill of Milford, Ohio, uncle and aunt of Mr. Applegate are both suffering with pneumonia and may not live.

CITY OFFICIALS TO INVESTIGATE

Clyde Miller Opens Saloon in 70 Foot
Room, When His Notice Calls
For One 50 Feet Long.

FIND OTHER IRREGULARITIES

Local Officers Say That Room Does Not Comply With City's Saloon
Regulative Ordinance.

An effort will be made to cause Clyde Miller, who opened his saloon in the Grand hotel last night, to comply with the Proctor regulative law, so it is understood, as local officials are taking steps in that direction. If he refuses to abide by the recent law it is said that his license may be revoked.

Miller advertised in the papers for a saloon license in which it was stated that he would install a bar in a fifty foot room. Instead he has opened up for business in a seventy foot room which is contrary to his advertisement. City officials have found the measurements of the room and expect to make him comply with that which he agreed to when he advertised for a license.

It is said that Milelr planned to use the back twenty feet for a store room, but local attorneys interpret the law to mean that the whole room shall be fifty feet long and the city council has provided in a saloon ordinance that there shall be only two outlets to a room in which a saloon is installed, one in front and one at the back. If only fifty feet were used for the saloon and the back twenty feet was used for a store room, it would be necessary to build a partition. If the partition were built it would be necessary to have an opening between it and the main room which would mean that there would be more than a back and a front opening, as the door into the back room would not open into the open air.

It is said that city officials will investigate other alleged violations of the saloon restrictive ordinance. It is said by city officials that there are two openings to the Miller room aside from the back and the front opening. This is contrary to the city ordinance.

Clyde Miller has already installed the bar which he formerly used in his saloon and opened up for business last night. He has gone to Cincinnati to buy another bar and all of the fixtures that go with it so that his bar will be twice as long as any other one in the city.

JOHN GERAGHTY SUCCESSFUL

Geraghty of West Eighth street, who is now teaching school at Moscow, is one of the two successful applicants in the annual examination for professional license for teachers held in February, according to a report from the State'superintendent of public instruction in Indianapolis. Helen M. Quinnell of Hobart, Ind., was the other successful applicant. There were about fifteen unsuccessful applicants.

TWO SICKLY CHILDREN

Made Well by Vinol—Letters From Grateful Mothers.

New Haven, Conn.—"My little girl ever since her birth was frail and sickly and nothing seemed to do her any good, until we tried your cod liver and iron tonic, Vinol. As soon as she commenced to take it, I noticed an improvement in her health and appearance. She has now taken three bottles of Vinol and from the good it has done her I can say it will do all you claim for it in building up and strengthening frail and delicate children." (Name furnished on request.)

Another mother of Chicago, Ill., writes: "My little girl was thin, run-down, pale and without any appetite. Vinol gave her a good appetite,—she has rosy cheeks and has gained rapidly in flesh and strength.

"I cannot say too much in praise of Vinol for delicate, ailing children." We ask every mother of a frail, sickly or ailing child in this vicinity to try Vinol on our agreement to return their money if it does not do all we claim. F. B. Johnson & Co., Drug-gists, Rushville, Ind.

In His Own Handwriting President Taft Conveys to Noted Negro Educator an Expression of the Distress the Latter's Adventure Has Caused Him and Attests His Sympathy For and Confidence in Him.

New York, March 23.—Wilford H. Smith, Booker T. Washington's lawyer, says that he has discovered what he calls the real motive for the assault on Dr. Washington in front of 11½ West Sixty-third street, on last Sunday night. He declares that Mrs. Albert Ulrich, the woman who says Dr. Washington spoke to her, mistook him for a negro who had tried to steal her ten-year-old daughter two or three weeks ago. She told her husband, so Lawyer Smith says, that "that same negro" was hanging around the apartment house on Sunday night, and the beating followed.

The lawyer also asserted that on the strength of new evidence he has turned up regarding the episode he will ask to have Ulrich indicted for felonious assault. He said two or three witnesses would swear that Dr. Washington did not enter the apartment house beyond the vestibule and therefore could not have attempted to peer into anybody's flat, and that at least one witness will tell about the beating as he saw it from an upper window of the same house.

Dr. Washington has received from President Taft, in the president's handwriting, a letter in which the president said he was greatly distressed at the misfortune, and expressing "sympathy" and "confidence."

Dr. Washington said to the reporters: "I want you to make two things very plain. They cannot be made too strong. First, I had not taken a drop of liquor. Do I look like a drinking man? Second, I did not speak to a soul—man, woman or child—in that house. The whole thing is absurd. Do you think I would go to a house and do anything so foolish? Do you think I would speak to a woman on the street?"

Dr. Washington is feeling much better today.

NEW PENITENTIARY

An $8,000,000 Penal Institution Proposed For Illinois.

Springfield, Ill., March 23.—Colonel Ira C. Copley of Aurora and James A. Patten of Evanston, as members of the new state penitentiary commission, appeared before the house appropriation committee and argued for an immediate appropriation of $1,000,000 to carry on the work of getting a new site for the Joliet penitentiary. They also explained an elaborate plan for the new penitentiary which will eventually cost $8,000,000 to execute.

A subcommittee was appointed to make an investigation of the plan and report back to the full committee.

PACKERS LOSE

Judge Carpenter Holds That Beef Barons Must Stand Trial.

Chicago, March 23.—Judge George A. Carpenter handed down a decision in the United States district court denying the motion of attorneys for the beef packers to quash the three indictments against them charging a combination in restraint of interstate trade, engaging in a conspiracy in restraint of interstate trade and monopolizing interstate trade. Judge Carpenter's decision is what is known as an interlocutory order, from which there is no appeal.

School Treasurer Goes Wrong.

New York, March 23.—Ferdinand P. Kay, treasurer of the Oil City (Pa.) school board, walked into a police station and asked to be locked up. "I blew in $600 of the funds of the school board," he said, "and am now down and out. I might as well give myself up." He was committed to the Tombs pending the arrival here of the sheriff from Oil City.

Broderick's Trial in Progress.

Springfield, Ill., March 23.—The trial of State Senator John Broderick is in progress in the Sangamon county Circuit court before Judge James A. Creighton. Broderick is proprietor of a saloon in Chicago. He is charged with having given State Senator D. W. Holstlaw $2,500 to induce him to vote for William Lorimer for the United States senate.

Another Detective Killed.

Danville, Ky., March 23.—Violence in connection with the strike of white firemen on the Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific railroad started again when Oscar Spaeth of Chicago, a detective employed in guarding strikebreakers, was shot and killed.

Dispatches from north Georgia state that there is no longer any doubt that the peach crop has succumbed to the March frosts. Many of the growers will cut thousands of trees down to make room for cotton.

GUARDED BOOKS EVEN AT LUNCH

Bank Bookkeeper Under Strain for Years.

BLAUTH'S SHORTAGE GROWING

It is Now Declared That Discrepancy in Accounts of Teller and Bookkeeper of Evansville Trust and Savings Company Will Run as High as $45,000—For Ten Years John Blauth Had Not Left His Books for a Day.

Evansville, Ind., March 23.—John Blauth, teller and bookkeeper of the Evansville Trust and Savings company, has been found to be short about $45,000 in his accounts. The examination has not been completed. Blauth, who is thirty-three years old and well connected, received $1,000 a year salary. He was under a $5,000 bond. He lived at the rate of $3,000 to $4,000 a year. In the ten years that he was alleged to have been manipulating the records, Blauth never took a vacation, was never absent from the banking room a day when the bank was open, and never went to luncheon. He carried his lunch with him and kept it in a drawer of the desk at which he worked. He ate it spread out on his books and never permitted the books to be out of his possession until they were closed for the day.

Blauth has not been arrested, but is accompanied by a detective when he walks out, and his home has been guarded constantly for several days. The teller and bookkeeper says he is not short, and declares the books were muddled when they were turned over to his keeping. He has employed an attorney, pending action by the bank officers.

QUASHED INDICTMENT

Former Treasurer of Marion County Released on Technicality.

Indianapolis, March 23.—Sitting as special judge in the case of the state against Oliver P. Ensley, former county treasurer, Ovid B. Jameson decided that the indictment charging Ensley with the embezzlement of $19,000 of public funds was not good, and therefore should be quashed. He permitted the defendant's attorneys to withdraw Ensley's plea of not guilty, which was necessary in order to entertain the motion to quash, and then quashed the indictment.

Judge Jameson found that the indictment was insufficient on account of its failure to charge any demand on the defendant, Ensley, by his successor for the money in question. The special venire of 125 men and the regular panel were dismissed, as the quashing of the indictment, for the present, at least, ends the case as far as the criminal court is concerned, and the defendant was discharged.

Prosecutor Baker says he will take an appeal to the supreme court. Should the supreme court uphold Judge Jameson's decision that the indictment is bad, the Ensley case will be ended for all time. Should the supreme court reverse the decision, the case could be tried.

The case was tried on the same indictment one year ago when the indictment was held to be good by Judge James A. Pritchard, the judge of the criminal court. The jury disagreed, ten of the jurors holding that Ensley was guilty and two holding out for acquittal. This made a new trial necessary.

Slain For His Importunity.

South Bend, Ind., March 23.—Angered because John O'Conner persisted in appealing to him for a loan of $5, William Kurackiewicz murdered him, according to a story told the police by the man in whose saloon the crime was committed. O'Conner had had trouble and seemed greatly in need of money, according to the story. He appealed to Kurackiewicz, and pleaded with him in the matter until the latter became angry and struck him over the head with a piece of pipe. The blow cracked O'Conner's skull, and he died a short time later. Kurackiewicz is in custody.

Movement National in Scope.

Indianapolis, March 23.—The state board of health will send out within a few days circulars outlining an observance for "Tuberculosis Sunday," April 30. The movement is national in scope, fostered by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. Governor Marshall has been asked to issue a proclamation calling for a general observance of the day throughout the state.

Big Drainage Project.

Valparaiso, Ind., March 23.—Special Judge Stels of South Bend ordered the construction of the Burns ditch. The ditch will cost in the neighborhood of $800,000 and will reclaim 200,000 acres of land lying south of Gary and across the northern border of Porter county.

Costly Blaze at Mt. Vernon.

Mt. Vernon, Ind., March 23.—Fire destroyed the large warehouse belonging to Stevens & Herrmann. Loss, $35,000; partly covered by insurance. The fire was caused by a spark falling on the building from a passing locomotive.

OBITUARIES.

The Republican will have to make a charge of one-third of a cent a word for ALL obituaries on account of the high cost of composition. Count all the words and send the cash with the obituary when mailing or same will not receive attention.

Some Reasons Why.

Why is it that we have not heard Republicans talking about the closing of factories since the heat of the last campaign wore away?—Rushville Jacksonian.

There are several reasons, says the Connersville News in answer. First, Republicans are not born "rag chewers" or pessimists, else they could not be Republicans. What they said against possible disaster to business was based on the history of the past previous success of the Democratic party when they gained full control of government. Their recent success was only partial so at the worst they could only repeat the awful disaster of the nineties. But Republicans being optimistic, by nature, are hoping for the best. They are willing that the Democrats shall have free rein for two years to try their hand at governing. True, they have little faith that the Democratic party, judging it by its past record, will do much to commend it to public favor, but stand ready to take the burden from Democratic shoulders in 1912 after they have again proved their total inability to run the country successfully. Furthermore, they recognize that prediction oft repeated of industrial disaster has a tendency to depress all lines of business. And so the Republican party turns its face to the future with a smile of confidence and leaves growlings and gloomy forebodings to others.

That New Yorker's assault on Booker T. Washington was bad enough, but the effort of the assailant and his wife to make it appear that the attack was the outcome of an affront offered by the great negro educator to a woman is beneath contempt, says the Muncie Press. Yet, if Washington had been the ordinary colored man this story would have "gone." It is to be hoped that the penalty imposed on the ruffian who attacked Dr. Washington, will at least cause brutes of his type to hereafter take note of the identity of their victims.

they take their name.

"The popular English breeds, the Orpington, Sussex and some of the Wyandottes, take their white skin, succulent flesh and rapid growth from the Dorking.

"The Dorking is noted especially for its table qualities: the flesh is white and very delicate in texture and is generally conceded to excel the famous French varieties. Its broad, deep and projecting breast admirably fits it for table purposes and in this respect the Dorking is claimed by some to rival the Indian Games.

"The Silver Gray Dorkings are very beautiful in plumage; their bright, red combs and faces, bright silvery gray backs and wings, in the hens salmon red breasts, and in the cocks bluish black under parts and tail feathers, make them a very showy chickens. One of the striking features of this breed is the presence of a fifth or supernumerary toe. The Dorking is of very rapid growth and attains a size slightly less than a Plymouth Rock. They are splendid layers of large white eggs."

In the shipment just received from England by A. P. Walker and the men associated with him are some of the choicest fowls from the best flocks in the country, and it is the intention of these men to make Indiana the center of interest in this new, old strain.

There are several large flocks of Dorkings in the East and where breeders are acquainted with their qualities, they are in high favor. The American Dorking club is a wide awake growing association, but as the larger club is composed of eastern men it is probable that the Dorking society of Indiana will be organized by the men interested. Such an organization would insure the proper co-operation of all breeders and would push to the front envied qualities of the breed to which these men have pinned their faith.

In the shipment were one hundred and twelve chickens which were divided among five men, Messrs. J. M. Amos and A. P. Walker of Rushville; Hugh J. McGowan of Indianapolis, and T. S. Adams and L. G. Vannice of Danville.

ODD STATISTICS FOR AUTOMOBILE ENTHUSIAST

An enthusiastic auto owner who has a bent for things mathematical has sent to the Regal Motor Car Company the result of his figure-juggling during the winter evenings in his home in Kokomo. His statistics are as odd as they are interesting.

"Statisticians," he writes, "have figured out that for every mile of road covered in an automobile, the magneto fires out above 4435 sparks to ignite the fuel. That number is the fair average of the several calculations made by the best engineers. Right away we begin to talk in the big millions.

"Did you ever stop to consider that in one year the 440,000 automobiles said to be in use in the United States travel 4,015,000,000 miles, figuring (from such records as I have at hand) that the low average annual mileage for each car is 9125 miles?

"Figure it out on the Plugger basis and you will find that these 440,000 automobiles in traveling 4,015,000,000 miles use up 17,806,525,000,000 sparks from magnetos in just one year and that these sparks turn the wheels of the autos just 4,621,265,000,000 times.

"And to do all that work for just one year, more than $35,400,000 worth of gasoline was converted into blue smoke from the exhaust pipes, accepting as a basis of computation the figures of a Standard Oil official showing that 236,000,000 gallons of gasoline were used for the autos of the country in 1910. Pretty soft for John D, eh?"

GETS BLANKS FOR ENUMERATION

County Superintendent C. M. George
Gets Papers to Distribute Among Township Trustees.

NUMBER OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

Reports From Each County Form the Basis For Making up State School Fund.

The blanks for the enumeration of school children have been received by C. M. George, county superintendent, and he in turn will distribute them among the trustees of the county. The enumeration must be taken between April 10th and 30th, and reports filed with the county superintendent, who makes a report to the State and the reports form a basis for the making up of the State school fund.

In making the enumeration the person so employed must distinguish between the white and colored children, enumerating them in separate lists, and shall list the names of parents, guardians, heads of families or persons having charge of such child or children. The list shall include all unmarried persons between six and twenty-one years. In case any person having charge of a child shall be absent when the enumerator calls, he shall ascertain the facts, required from other reliable sources and sign his own name to the certificate.

In case any parent, guardian or person having charge of a child entitled to school privilege, refuses to make a report to the enumerator any facts necessary to a full and accurate report, the said person shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than one nor more than ten dollars.

The members of the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held an open meeting at the home of Mrs. J. D. Case at the corner of Main and Fifth streets this afternoon, when an address was given by Mrs. John Carey, an ex-vice-president of the National D. A. R. A short musical program was given. The program was in charge of the patriotic educational committee.

The closing feature of the Knights Templar annual banquet and reception, given to the wives and women friends of the members, was the most enjoyable one of the evening. The Misses Jean Bishop, Hazel Cox, Hazle Lytle and Norma Smith gave a varied program which both impressed and at times caused an uproar of laughter. Miss Bishop composed a parody on minstrels which have been given in former years that proved to be the "hit" of the evening. It was termed an after-thought by one of the after-dinner speakers. The Misses Cox, Lytle and Smith sang the verses which brought more applause than any other part of the evening's program.

A several course turkey banquet was served between the hours of seven and eight, during which time Wagoner's orchestra furnished the music. Previous to the banquet a reception was held. Several out-of-the-city guests attended.

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace theater will have a complete change of program.

The first picture at the Vaudet tonight is an Itala film, "My Son is Guilty." It is a pathetic drama based on the events surrounding the life of a man convicted on circumstantial evidence. The other film is a Powers, "Under Southern Skies." The picture is taken from a well known war story and is a very fine piece of work. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Star Grand will present a Reliance film tonight entitled "The School Ma'am's Courage." It is a comedy drama showing how a frail school teacher conquered the bully, a mingling of pathos and humor forming a delightful story. The second picture is an American entitled "The Tenderfoot's Round-Up," a sensational western comedy. Extra—The Melville Hamilton company will appear tonight and the rest of the week in vaudeville. Earl Robertson will sing, "I Love You Dear."

CHAPTER VI.

Revelations.

Some vague, indefinable shadow darkened Miss Thorne's clear, blue-gray eyes, in sharp contrast to the glow of radiant health in her cheeks, as she stepped from the automobile in front of the Venezuelan legation, and ran lightly up the steps. A liveried servant opened the door.

"A gentleman is waiting for you, madam," he announced. "His card is here on the—"

"I was expecting him," she interrupted. "Which room, please?"

"The blue room, madam."

Miss Thorne passed along the hallway which led to a suit of small drawing-rooms opening on a garden in the rear, pushed aside the portieres, and entered.

"I'm sorry I've kept you—" she began, and then, in a tone of surprise: "I beg your pardon."

A gentleman rose and bowed gravely.

"I am Mr. Grimm of the secret service," he informed her with frank courtesy. "I am afraid you were expecting some one else! I handed my card to the footman."

For an instant the blue-gray eyes opened wide in astonishment, and then some quick, subtle change swept over Miss Thorne's face. She smiled graciously and motioned him to a seat.

"This is quite a different meeting from the one Senorita Rodriguez had planned, isn't it?" she asked.

There was a taunting curve on her scarlet lips; the shadow passed from her eyes; her slim, white hands lay idly in her lap. Mr. Grimm regarded her reflectively. There was a determination of steel back of this charming exterior; there was an indomitable will, a keen brain, and all of a woman's intuition to reckon with. She was silent, with a questioning upward slant of her arched brows.

"I am not mistaken in assuming that you are a secret agent of the Italian government, am I?" he queried finally.

"No," she responded readily.

"In that event I may speak with perfect frankness?" he went on. "It would be as useless as it would be absurd to approach the matter in any other manner?" It was a question.

Miss Thorne was still smiling, but again the vague, indefinable shadow, momentarily lifted, darkened her eyes.

"You may be frank, of course," she said pleasantly. "Please go on."

"Senor Alvarez was shot at the German embassy last night," Mr. Grimm told her.

Miss Thorne nodded, as if in wonder.

AN EASY AND HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR.

Who does not know of the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, put up an ideal preparation of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. It is sold by all leading druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the manufacturers upon receipt of price.

J. B. SCHRICHTER SONS

"Did you, or did you not, shoot him?"

It was quite casual. She received the question without change of countenance, but involuntarily she caught her breath. It might have been a sigh of relief.

"Why do you come to me with such a query?" she asked in turn.

"I beg your pardon," interposed Mr. Grimm, steadily. "Did you, or did you not, shoot him?"

"No, of course I didn't shoot him," was the reply. If there was any emotion in the tone it was merely impatience. "Why do you come to me?" she repeated.

"Why do I come to you?" Mr. Grimm echoed the question, while his listless eyes rested on her face. "I will be absolutely frank, as I feel sure you would be under the same circumstances." He paused a moment; she nodded. "Well, immediately after the shooting you ran along the hallway with a revolver in your hand; you ran down the steps into the kitchen, and out through the back door, where you entered an automobile. That is not conjecture; it is susceptible of proof by eye witnesses."

Miss Thorne rose suddenly with a queer, helpless little gesture of her arms, and walked to the window. She stood there for a long time with her hands clasped behind her back.

"That brings us to another question," Mr. Grimm continued mercilessly. "If you did not shoot Senor Alvarez, do you know who did?"

There was another long pause.

"I want to believe you, Miss Thorne," he supplemented.

She turned quickly with something of defiance in her attitude.

"Yes, I know," she said slowly. "It were useless to deny it."

"Who was it?"

"I won't tell you."

Mr. Grimm leaned forward in his chair, and spoke earnestly.

"Understand, please, that by that answer you assume equal guilt with the person who actually did the shooting," he explained. "If you adhere to it you compel me to regard you as an accomplice." His questioning took a different line. "Will you explain how the revolver came into your possession?"

"Oh, I—I picked it up in the hallway there," she replied vaguely.

"I want to believe you, Miss Thorne," Mr. Grimm said again.

"You may. I picked it up in the hallway," she repeated. "I saw it lying there and picked it up."

"Why that, instead of giving an alarm?"

"No alarm was necessary. The shot itself was an alarm."

"Then why," Mr. Grimm persisted coldly, "did you run along the hallway and escape by way of the kitchen?"

If you did not do the shooting, why the necessity of escape, carrying the revolver?"

There was that in the blue-gray eyes which brought Mr. Grimm to his feet. His hands gripped each other cruelly; his tone was calm as always.

"Why did you take the revolver?" he asked.

Miss Thorne's head dropped forward a little, and she was silent.

"There are only two possibilities, of course," he went on. "First, that you,

"The individual who shot Senor Alvarez did obtain the paper, yes. And now, please, am I to be arrested?"

"And just what was the purpose, may I inquire, of the message you telegraphed with your fan in the ball-room?"

"You read that?" exclaimed Miss Thorne in mock astonishment. "You read that?"

"And the man who read that message? Perhaps he shot the senator?"

"Perhaps," she taunted.

For a long time Mr. Grimm stood staring at her, staring, staring. She, too, rose, and faced him quietly.

"Am I to be arrested?" she asked again.

"Why do you make me do it?" he demanded.

"That is my affair."

Mr. Grimm laid a hand upon her arm, a hand that had never known nervousness. A moment longer he stared, and then:

"Madam, you are my prisoner for the attempted murder of Senor Alvarez!"

The rings on the portieres behind him clicked sharply, and the draperies parted. Mr. Grimm stood motionless, with his hand on Miss Thorne's arm.

"You were inquiring a moment ago for a revolver," came in a man's voice. "Here it is!"

Mr. Grimm found himself inspecting the weapon from the barrel end. After a moment his glance shifted to the blazing eyes of the man who held it—a young man, rather slight, with clean-cut, aristocratic features, and of the pronounced Italian type.

"My God!" The words came from Miss Thorne's lips almost in a scream. "Don't—!"

"I did make some inquiries about a revolver, yes," Mr. Grimm interrupted

In spite of your denial, did the shooting.

"I did not!" The words fairly burst from her tightly closed lips.

"Or that you knew the revolver, and took it to save the person, man or woman, who fired the shot. I will assume, for the moment, that this is correct. Where is the revolver?"

From the adjoining room there came a slight noise, a faint breath of sound; or it might have been only an echo of silence. Their eyes were fixed each upon the others unwaveringly, with not a flicker to indicate that either had heard. After a moment Miss Thorne returned to her chair and sat down.

"It's rather a singular situation, isn't it, Mr. Grimm?" she inquired irrelevantly. "You, Mr. Grimm of the Secret Service of the United States; I, Isabel Thorne, a secret agent of Italy together here, one accusing the other of a crime, and perhaps with good reason."

"Where is the revolver?" Mr. Grimm insisted.

"If you were any one else but you! I could not afford to be frank with you and—"

"If you had been any one else but you I should have placed you under arrest when I entered the room."

She smiled, and inclined her head.

"I understand," she said pleasantly. "For the reason that you are Mr. Grimm of the Secret Service I shall tell you the truth. I did take the revolver because I knew who had fired the shot. Believe me when I tell you that that person did not act with my knowledge or consent. You do believe that? You do?" She was pleading, eager to convince him.

After a while Mr. Grimm nodded.

"The revolver is beyond your reach and shall remain so," she resumed.

"According to your laws I suppose I am an accomplice. That is my misfortune. It will in no way alter my determination to keep silent. If I am arrested I can't help it." She studied his face with hopeful eyes. "Am I to be arrested?"

"Where is the paper that was taken from Senor Alvarez immediately after he was shot?" Mr. Grimm queried.

"I don't know," she replied frankly.

"As I understand it, then, the motive for the shooting was to obtain possession of that paper? For your government?"

"The individual who shot Senor Alvarez did obtain the paper, yes. And now, please, am I to be arrested?"

"And just what was the purpose, may I inquire, of the message you telegraphed with your fan in the ball-room?"

"You read that?" exclaimed Miss Thorne in mock astonishment. "You read that?"

"And the man who read that message? Perhaps he shot the senator?"

quietly. "Is this the one?"

He raised his hand quite casually, and his fingers closed like steel around the weapon. Behind his back Miss Thorne made some quick emphatic gesture, and the new-comer released the revolver.

"I shall ask you, please, to free Miss Thorne," he requested courteously. "I shot Senor Alvarez. I, too, am a secret agent of the Italian government, willing and able to defend myself. Miss Thorne has told you the truth; she had nothing whatever to do with it. She took the weapon and escaped because it was mine. Here is the paper that was taken from Senor Alvarez," and he offered a sealed envelope. "I have read it; it is not what I expected. You may return it to Senor Alvarez with my compliments."

After a moment Mr. Grimm's hand fell away from Miss Thorne's arm, and he regarded the new-comer with an interest in which admiration, even, played a part.

"Your name?" he asked finally.

"Pietro Petrozinni," was the ready reply. "As I say, I accept all responsibility."

A few minutes later Mr. Grimm and his prisoner passed out of the legation side by side, and strolled down the street together, in amicable conversation. Half an hour later Senor Alvarez identified Pietro Petrozinni as the man who shot him; and the maid servant expressed a belief that he was the man who slammed the door in her face.

TRAMPS MOVE ON RUSHVILLE

Knights of the Road Have Been Common Here Within the Last Week.

DID SALOONS CAUSE INFLUX?

North Jackson Street Woman Complain of Insolent Man Who Calls For Something to Eat.

"Is the fact that Rushville has gone 'wet' the cause for so many tramps being in Rushville?" asked a North Jackson street woman, when she called the Daily Republican office by phone this morning.

Of course no one had an answer but it has been noticeable that the tramps have been very common sights here on the streets since last Saturday. The woman who called said she never remembered a time when there were as many tramps in the city, as there have been in the last few days.

The woman said that the tramps were the most insolent lot that had ever visited her house and she said that neighbors were also complaining of the same trouble. The woman stated that one visited her home yesterday and was just in the act of entering her house when she caught him. She said that the red faced knight of the roads was intent on entering her home but that she stood in front of the doorway and did not allow him to pass. He had entered and passed through the summer kitchen before she discovered his presence.

Whether or not the opening of the saloons here caused the influx of tramps is an open question, but that seems a very reasonable solution. Liquor is as a general rule the cause for most men taking to the gypsy life and living from day to day on other people. Tramps have not been very common on the streets in the business portion of the city, but housewives in many parts of the city have complained of the trouble.
